Art Unit: 1652

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claim 1-6, drawn to genetically modified bacterium having cdsA gene amplified classified in class 435, subclass 252.32.
- II. Claim 7-11, drawn to DNA molecule encoding SEQ ID NO: 2, classified in class 536, subclass 23.2.
- III. Claim 12-22, drawn to a method of production of L-amino acids, classified in class 435, subclass 106.
- IV. Claim 23-24, drawn to probes and primers for the DNA molecule of Group II, classified in class 536, subclass 24.3.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because:

Inventions I and II are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions. The genetically modified bacterium and DNA of SEQ ID NO: 1 are not disclosed as capable of use together.

Inventions I and III are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case production of L-amino acids can be practiced with other microorganism than that of Group I.

Inventions I and IV are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions I and IV, i.e. the modified bacterium is not capable of use with probe or primer for cdsA gene.

Inventions II and III are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions DNA encoding phosphatidate cytidyl transferase and the method of production of L-amino acids are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions.

Inventions II and IV are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions the DNA encoding SEQ ID NO: 2 and primer and probes are different chemical entities having different modes of operation, different functions and are not disclosed as capable of use together.

Inventions III and IV are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions the method of production of L-amino acid cannot be used together with the probe or primer of Group IV.

Art Unit: 1652

Inventions I-IV are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art. Because of their recognized divergent subject matter and/or different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a petition under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
